

Weekly Letter From Gotham

Few persons have any idea of the rigorous extreme to which surgeons carry the antiseptic idea nowadays. Here is an illustration: At an operation in one of the big city hospitals a few days ago one of the assistants discovered that something was needed from outside after he has disinfected his hands. He stood on one foot and pushed the electric button with the toe of his other shoe rather than take the risk of picking up bacteria by touching it with his finger.

Banish Evil by Thought.

A new cult, the Circle of Divine Ministry, is reported to be gaining ground rapidly in New York. This cult finds its theory of life and its religious creed in the power of right thinking over all evil. The only prerequisite for membership is an open mind and an active interest in the psychological principles, which the circle hopes to bring to maturity in the human race. The theory, as advanced by one of the prophetesses of the religion, is that right thinking, if the thinking is good and hard, will banish any evil, material or otherwise. The banishment consists not in annihilation, but in relegation to proper relations.

This prophetess says she has known of many houses from which cockroaches and other insects have been driven and acres upon acres of potato vines rid of Colorado beetles by properly directed thought. The new thought, she declares, has a peculiar quick and satisfactory effect on cockroaches. She has never discovered where the poor bugs go when driven away.

Hired Girl Escort by the Hour.

A man well advanced in years is almost a daily visitor to Central park. He is generally accompanied by a young woman. Some of the park employees who observed the two thought they were father and daughter. After a while it was noticed that a different young woman appeared with the man about every two weeks. It was not possible that any man could have so many daughters. A person of an inquisitive turn of mind constituted himself an investigator. This is what he learned.

The old man is a person of means and he pays 50 cents an hour for the society of any young woman of education who is willing to accompany him on his rambles through the park with bright conversation on any topic, but love. As they pass about six hours a day in the park the girl earns $3 a day just by talking. The different objects in the park evidently supply the different themes of discourse. Why the man changes his escort every two weeks is a mystery. Perhaps a young woman talks herself out in that time. Maybe he thinks it best to take no chances.

Now Lives on Grass.

Frank Taylor, an aged resident of Brooklyn, who declares that he has been cured of dyspepsia by eating nothing but grass, has bought a farm in New Hampshire, where he will lay out in grass and clover so that he can have an inexhaustible supply to draw from. He now gets his daily supply from Sunset park, where it is gathered by his daughter. The young woman makes daily trips to the park and plucks the grass, bringing it home in a paper bag. Her father eats it with great relish. His palate has now become so accustomed to the juice of the grass, that nothing else tempts him anymore, and he considers that he has taken a new lease on life. He has been made an offer of $100 a week to lecture in a museum, but it has been declined as, he says, he desires no notoriety.

Windmill Signals.

New Yorkers justly pride themselves on the completeness of their telegraph and telephone service in these days. All the same there was a very efficient means of communication between the early Dutch settlers before the year 1700. It might be called the first wireless system used in America, though there was no electricity about it and the poles were common Dutch windmills. The windmill appeared in America almost as soon as the Dutch set foot on Manhattan island. In a few years there was such a mill on every bit of rising ground in the island. When the windmills were not running their owners used them to signal with.

They worked out a regular code of signals, bits of which codes tradition has handed down. When the sails were set square, with one arm pointing to the earth and one to the sky, it meant a hostile invasion. The same signal with the upper half of the mill door open heralded a peaceful arrival. And so on through a great variety. The signals could be read a long way off and by being repeated on each mill a message could be sent throughout the island in a very short time.

"JOHN MITCHELL DAY."

Pennsylvania Miners Take Holiday in His Honor.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct. 29.—Many thousands of miners of the Lackawanna and Wyoming regions observed John Mitchell Day here today with a mammoth parade. It was a holiday for the miners in the two valleys, and more than 150 locs were on hand from Pittsburgh, Scranton, Plymouth and numerous other points. The big parade was under the direction of John T. Dempsey of Scranton.

Seventh District Celebrated. Hamilton, Pa., Oct. 29.—Mitchell Day was elaborately celebrated here today by the United Mineworkers of the seventh district. The parade was the largest demonstration of the kind seen here in several years. After the parade there were speeches in the Grand opera house by officials and prominent members of the mineworkers' organization.

YOUNG WIFEHOOD

Boston, Mass., 152 Shawmut Ave., Oct. 25, 1902.

After I had been married about four months I felt my health generally decline. I seemed to lose the light step and dragged wearily along instead. My appetite failed me and I lost health and strength. I was nervous and had shooting pains through my limbs and stomach while bearing down pains and constant headaches added to my misery. The menstrual flow became more and more profuse and I was unfit to attend to my daily duties. My husband called in three different physicians and I took enough medicine to kill or cure a dozen women, but it all had no effect on me whatever, until I took Wine of Cardui. In a few days I felt a change for the better, my general health improved and at the next time of my periods my flow was more natural and I was in less pain. Gradually I recovered my health and strength and am now in perfect health. I take an occasional dose of Wine of Cardui which keeps me well.

I am happy to give you this endorsement.

Betty Ricker

President, Back Bay Women's Club.

Why don't you try for the same health Mrs. Ricker has? It is easy to secure if you take Wine of Cardui according to directions. Wine of Cardui strengthens weak and worn-out women of any age and assists the mother and housewife to bear her exacting duties. Wine of Cardui makes women fit for all the duties of womanhood.

It will relieve the pains of irregularity, cures falling of the womb, leucorrhoea, ovarian troubles, and has been known to remove what physicians considered dangerous tumors. Women who use Wine of Cardui do not suffer at the monthly periods. They do not suffer hysterical attacks, because Wine of Cardui gives them strong nerves from within the irritation of female suffering.

A $1.00 bottle of Wine of Cardui purchased from your druggist will keep you free from pain.
